DISC Personality Assessment Report

Thank you for completing the DISC Personality Assessment. This report provides insights into your personality style based on your responses.

Your DISC Style Breakdown (Absolute Scores):

The following scores represent your absolute level in each DISC style on a scale from 0% to 100%. A higher percentage indicates a stronger tendency towards that style.

Style	Score (0-100%)
D	73.08%
I	70.00%
S	70.83%
C	58.33%

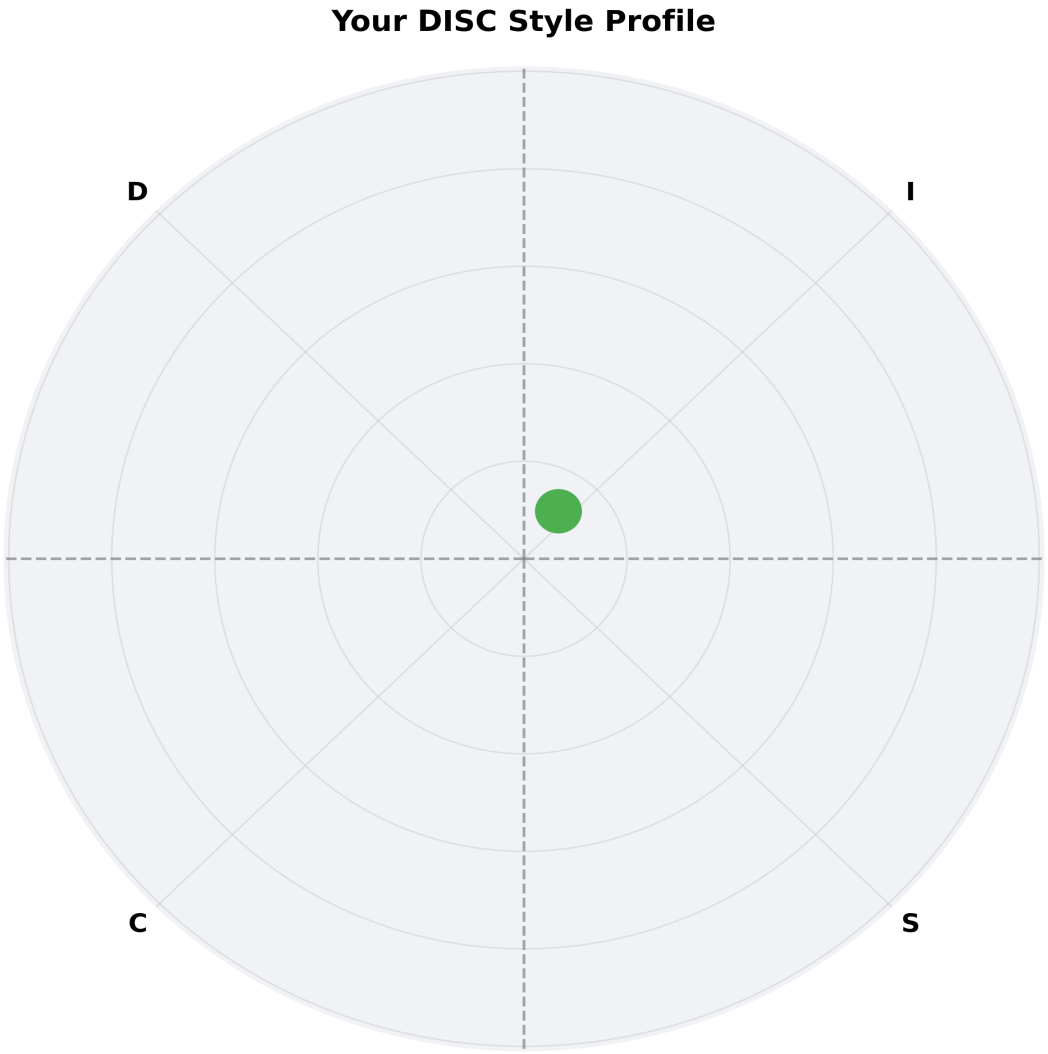
Your DISC Style Breakdown (Relative Percentages):

These percentages represent the proportion of each DISC style relative to your overall personality profile. The total sums up to 100%.

Style	Relative Percentage
D	26.84%
I	25.71%
S	26.02%
C	21.43%

Understanding Your Scores:

The absolute scores indicate how strongly you exhibit each DISC style on its own, without comparison to other styles. A higher score means you tend to display more behaviors associated with that style. The relative percentages show how each style contributes to your overall personality profile compared to the other styles. These percentages sum up to 100% and help you understand which styles are most dominant in your personality.



Your Personalized DISC Style Description:

Influence (I) + Dominance (D) Personality You possess a unique combination of charisma and decisiveness, making you a dynamic leader in both social and work environments. You are naturally persuasive, and your assertiveness allows you to take charge in situations that require quick thinking and action. Your enthusiasm and energy are contagious, helping you influence others to align with your vision. However, you may occasionally overlook important details or move too quickly, which can lead to missteps. Striking a balance between your sociability and the need to pause for reflection will allow you to make better long-term decisions while still capitalizing on your ability to inspire action in others. Strengths: Confident, energetic, inspiring, decisive, persuasive, action-oriented. Challenges: May struggle with slowing down or focusing on details, can come across as overly dominant, and may push ahead without thoroughly considering all factors.

Understanding All DISC Styles:

Dominance (D): You tend to be direct, results-oriented, and assertive. You are motivated by challenges and achieving tangible results.

Influence (I): You are typically outgoing, enthusiastic, and optimistic. You enjoy social interactions and persuading others.

Steadiness (S): You are often patient, supportive, and team-oriented. You value cooperation and harmony in relationships.

Conscientiousness (C): You tend to be analytical, precise, and detail-oriented. You focus on accuracy, quality, and expertise.

Remember, everyone has aspects of all four styles, but most people tend to gravitate towards one or two primary styles. Your unique combination of styles influences how you communicate, make decisions, and interact with others.

Use this insight to enhance your personal and professional relationships by recognizing and appreciating different styles in yourself and others.
